

Privacy Policy Statement for CMEsolutions' and Online-Med-Edu's Internet Continuing Medical Education Activities

The following statements explain our information practices. Your privacy when participating in CME activities are our utmost concern.

The information we collect and it's purpose:

- In an effort to improve our site we do collect information on what pages you visit.
- Additionally we may collect personal information required for ACCME. These may include name, e-mail address, and mailing address as needed.
- We may also collect your IP address and cookies for security purposes.

As a visitor registers for CME activities:

- Information about their identity is recorded to verify participation. Periodically we are required to provide this information for all CME participants we certify by ACCME. We are required to keep this data for a period of no less than 6 years as an accredited provider.
- Staff will have access to these databases. Though databases are not released for public consumption. All information is kept private.

Furthermore, as part of participation in Internet CME activities:

- In order to provide feedback concerning the participant's understanding of the content, they will be asked to complete a post-test or survey as part of the CME activity.
- We also ask for an evaluation of the CME activity as part of our desire to improve the current and future activities.
- The participant maybe asked if they are interested in information regarding future activities.

Other uses for the information may include:

- Contacting the participant to clear up any possible verification issues, i.e., we find duplicate registrations for the same activity.
- To clarify information provided by the participant, i.e., suggestions provided for improvements.
- If, upon request, additional CME activities are now available.

All information is kept private, and is not shared with other institutions or third parties, except as may be required by law.

Foreseeable and unforeseeable policy changes:

As we evolve, we may use information in new ways or collect additional information. As our policies and practices change we will update the above stated policies to reflect those changes. Those policy changes will only affect such data as collected after the change, any earlier data will be held to the policies in affect at the time such data was collected. All times all information is kept private, and is not shared with other institutions or third parties, except as may be required by law.

Security

We have in place up to date security measures to ensure protection against loss, misuse or alteration of the information we collect.

Regarding Other Sites on the Internet

In continuing the advancement of education and sharing of information, our site may contain links to other sites on the internet. As these sites may not have any direct affiliation with us, we cannot be held responsible for privacy practices they may have.

Concerns you may have regarding our policies

If you feel we have acted in anyway adverse to our policies feel free to contact us at:
